HONGKONG ICE COMPANY.

NOTICE.

WE Beg to intimate that, during the months of July, August and September, the Price of ICE will be 2½ Cents per lb. The smallest quantity sold 4 pounds.

As the demand at present is more than we can meet, and will be heavier during the above months, we have decided upon this advance in price solely with the object of keeping the consumption within the producing power of our present machinery, and so endeavouring to give all consumers a share. As soon as we feel the demand falling off, the price will be reduced again to the usual 2 Cents per pound.

While thanking the Community for the support they have hitherto accorded us, we trust they will bear with us at this time in our efforts to meet the wants of all, as next year, with the addition of our new Machinery, there will be no lack of supplies, and consequently no necessity for going beyond the charge of 2 Cents per lb.

Government. Even the Gunga affair, had as it was, become diminished in the lustre of its glancing exhibition of journalistic imbecility.

DAVE CARSON'S minstrels gave their first entertainment at the City Hall Theatre last evening before a pretty large audience. The curtain rose punctually at 9 o'clock and the performance commenced with an overture by the minstrel, the execution of which promised well for what was to follow. Nor were the audience disappointed, as the whole of the first part of the evening's bill of fare was conducted from beginning to end with much spirit and was exceedingly well received. We may notice more particularly the ballad "Kiss Me," which was rendered by Mr. Ferrell in a very effective manner, and called forth a demand for repetition. "Hark the Drum" was also much applauded, and Dave's definition of "The Language of Love" created much amusement. The jokes and local hits were evidently much enjoyed. Dave apparently does not take long to get "posted" in local matters. Last night, the Great Swimming Match, the Volunteers, the Temperance Society, and the late war all came in for a share of his "sarkum." "There was one man," he said, "in the Swimming Match who made a few strokes, and then there were no more." He referred to the winner as traversing the sea (traverser D. O.) The war was said to be attributable to women, who were always at the bottom of everything. There was Molly Davis, Bessie Kaba and hosts of others all mixed up in it. If the Russians come to Hongkong, Dave promised them a warm reception at the hands of the volunteers, whom he called the backbone of old England, and likened to Lord Nelson whose last act was to die for his country, which he said was the very last thing the Hongkong Volunteers would do. The first part of the entertainment concluded with the Swiss Warblers, in which Dave's well known fiasco expression was brought into full play. Dave's graceful movements, when she appeared as "The Pride of the Rink," won for her loud and continued applause. A vocal duet entitled "The Sailor's Song" was much appreciated, the artists being Messrs. Ferrell and Norville, but the prettiest song of the evening was we think "Let brotherly love continue," which won for the singer Mr. C. D. an unmitigated encore. Taken as a whole the entertainment was a great success, and we heard little else but expressions of approval from the major portion of the audience. There will be another performance to-morrow, and an entire change of programme.

(L. and C. Express, May 24th.)
A young Japanese nobleman, Prince Sakai, who since November last has been lieutenant in the second regiment of Grenadier Guards at Berlin, will leave the metropolis after the autumn manoeuvres on his return to Japan. A younger brother, who is studying Jurisprudence at the University of Berlin, will remain there for some years longer to finish his education. Four Japanese naval officers, viz., Captain Yanagi, Captain Tosa, and Lieutenants Kourukawa and Iseno, have obtained leave from the Government to serve on board our ironclads, and have proceeded to Kiel, where they will be appointed to various ships in the squadron which is about to start on a cruise.

A telegram just come in reports the stranding of the German ironclad Friedrich der Grosse, on the northern shore of the island of Langeland (Denmark).

Mrs. Smith (widow of Bishop Smith, of Hong Kong) and daughter have, we understand, offered themselves for missionary work, and proceed to Hong Kong to take charge of the Female Manual School there.

Messrs. Trübner and Co. are about to publish a new work by Mr. F. W. Balfour, the author of "Walls and Strays from the East."

Mr. Reed, M.P., the naval architect for the Japanese men-of-war, has postponed his visit to Japan until the autumn.

Police Intelligence.

(Before C. V. Croagh, Esq.)
2nd July, 1878.

EDWARD SINGHAR, seaman U.S.S. Ranger, was fined 20 cents for the above offence.

INMATELITUDE.

Lan Ten San, a coolie, was sent to two months' hard labour, in default of a fine of $16, for having run away from the Hospital and sold the clothes he had on belonging to that place.

POLICE SERVANTS AGAIN.

Tam Aze, a widow, and Ng Achung, both servants to P. O. McDonough (No. 55), were charged on suspicion of being concerned in the robbery of their master's property. The case returned home to No. 9 Police Station at 8 p.m. on the 30th ultimo. He then had a $5 note and a ten-cent piece in his pocket. He lay down on the sofa for a couple of him, and at 10 p.m. went to bed. He hung his trousers on a peg behind the door of his bedroom. At about 7.45 a.m., when he got up, he found the money was not in his pocket and looked for it on the sofa. Finding it was not there, he inquired of his defendant about it. The latter said she had seen four two-cent pieces on the sofa and stated that she had covered them over with the anti-macassar. Defendant said that she found an anti-macassar in the spittoon, and gave it to her defendant to wash, but denied having seen any money. Prosecution further stated that the station coolie usually swept out the rooms at 6.30 or 7 a.m. Remanded until the 8th instant, and admitted to bail in one surety of $10 each.

SUPREME COURT.

IN SUMMARY JURISDICTION.
(Before His Honor James Russell, Esq., Acting Police Judge.)
July 2, 1878.

Wong Yung and another v. J. Kennedy, $36.50. This was a claim for work and labour done. The defendant denied liability as the plaintiff did not perform the work in a satisfactory manner and never completed it, thus putting him (defendant) to much trouble and expense. Another contractor had to be obtained to perform the work. The dispute arose owing to plaintiff's not having used Portland Cement in the concrete used in the construction of wall, which defendant alleged had been the verbal agreement. Mr. W. Wilson of Wilson and Salway, was called to prove that concrete made without Portland Cement would be useless where there was running water.

The case occupied the Court until after 1 o'clock, when it was adjourned until to-morrow at 10 o'clock, to enable the other cases to be proceeded with.

Clarke v. Scott, $113.75.—This was a claim for wages as mate of the British barque Hydon Castle.
Mr. Donny appeared for the plaintiff. The defendant, who is master of the vessel, admitted indebtedness to the amount of $78.75, which he paid into court, and the balance $40 he deducted for damage done to cargo or to sugar boilers consigned to the Sugar Refinery. Defendant stated that plaintiff was a very careless and useless servant. Through his carelessness damage to the extent of over $1000 had been sustained one way and another during the voyage. The value of the cargo broken was $265, and the ship had only received freight to the amount of $53 for carrying 24 of them. The Sugar Refinery Company had very considerably accepted $200 as payment in full, so that the ship had actually lost about $28. Defendant sought to stop this amount from plaintiff's wages. Defendant further stated that he has himself shown plaintiff how to discharge these cargo, and knowing plaintiff's proverbial carelessness had warned him on a account to attempt to discharge the cargo with one tackle; notwithstanding this, plaintiff had used only one tackle, the consequence being that the cargo was broken.

Plaintiff contended that he was not responsible for the breakage as he was not superintending the discharging of the cargo; there was a supercargo on board for that purpose, and it was one of the coolies who let go the tackle which caused the mishap. The defendant had also told him (plaintiff) that the supercargo would have to go for all breakages. When the breakage was reported to the defendant he did not at that time speak of charging plaintiff, but did so about 12 o'clock the same night.

In answer to defendant, plaintiff said: You did not tell me to pay special attention to the discharging of the cargo. The Court then adjourned at 4 p.m. 2. The defendant gave evidence, and said the breakage was caused by the coolies, who were not under his orders given by plaintiff. His Lordship gave judgment for plaintiff for the full amount, but without costs.

THE SHEK-O MURDER.

Hongkong, July 1, 1878.

To the Editor of the "China Mail."
SIR,—I was much surprised to find in your issue last evening that His Excellency the Governor had commuted the sentence of death passed in the case of the late Ah Hin, the cold-blooded and atrocious killer of one woman and injury inflicted upon another were proven incontrovertibly at the trial, the prisoner was taken dead; and the verdict was approved of by the learned Acting Chief Justice, and has since been upheld by yourself and your colleagues and self, I may say, before leaving the box we were entirely unanimous in the matter of the first and serious count, but it being a question of, as we also erroneously supposed, be, life or death, so far as the accused concerned, we thought it decorous to be in order that the verdict might not be to be one hastily arrived at, and for to frame a finding upon the other. For the reasons above stated, can hardly imagine that the question of the commutation of the sentence of death was obtained much consideration or assent at the hands of the Executive Council, save His Excellency; and I think it would be satisfactory were this still personage to frame an Ordinance stating that from henceforth no Chinaman shall be subjected to capital or corporal punishment whatever the heinousness of the crime; this, however, would, I presume, elicit comment from the Colonial Office home, so that we can hardly expect so decided an attempt to override the Statute and Scriptural law.

For the future, I add that should I again receive a commutation, I will never, under any circumstances, acquiesce in a verdict of guilty as a native, notwithstanding the clearest case to stand the case to stand.

Your obedient servant,
A JUROR.

WE TEST.

AGAINST THE HONGKONG PRESS.

The complaint a formality of regulation on the part of the Customs House of this capital with regard to the English steamer Gunga, which into this port about the end of last year, and the seizure of a few chests of opium which were found on board the said ship, as the immediate consequence of administration of the Customs laws in force here, have given room for the paper the neighbouring Colony of Hongkong more angry than moderation, with ignorance of the facts than solid ground interest themselves in the conduct of Customs management of the public functions of the department, and also of the principles of this discipline, in a manner we ourselves, in equal circumstances, we are saying little in circumstances all favourable to our cause and interest, and not in the least have done, for we should have been dishonest and most strenuous defenders of truth and justice, and of the principles of the law, and of the rights of a friendly and just and consideration which are the basis of all honourable men of all.

We know yet what is the decision of the judicial authorities with regard to the seizure of the chests of opium found on board the Gunga many persons in Manila the fact is completely unknown, and so it is even at the time of writing these lines notwithstanding; while we have no opinion, neither for nor against the matter is taking its course with the view of proving the truthfulness of the deeds, as required in which it ought not to be decided, but, mediated and considered, the present the impartiality of the interest, and which the Spanish nation over know how to respect; while, in one word, the administrative decisions are still pending; we found it in the Hongkong paper, with fabulous reports of the facts, with numerous circumstances which amount to exaggeration—it is easy to prove to anyone who is acquainted with our Customs regulations, with expressions full of malevolent intentions, with offensive thoughts, all of which demonstrate at least an unequalled haste, if not at the back of it there are concealed less noble feelings which only await an opportunity to reveal themselves clearly and bare.

This is, unfortunately not the first instance of dissimulation and lack of moderation which has been shown us by the Hongkong press: it is not the first indication of the sort of conduct which we are never going to learn; it is not the first proof of a rivalry or of an unjustified rancour, from all points, which has been shown against our institutions and our law: their indecencies, their envy, their small and mean criterion of things were shown us before in various occasions, when we proceeded to the fulfilment of the chief of the vessels of Seoloo, when we did it in favour of all men but against the plagues, a duty which lies upon Christians as well as on others. It does not, however, surprise us once we know that it comes from a source which has always shown itself to be keen and envious to take opportunity to throw themselves anew in the strayed path of most obnoxious personalities.

What surprises us is that there could exist in Manila people who encourage this sort of moderation, and who perhaps under the cover of friendship, and of having no other motives than that of gratitude towards the benign Spanish laws in all their branches and equal to all classes, are capable of throwing their envenomed darts and concealing their face, wounding us from behind with the offence of calumny. This is what surprises us, and what excites more commiseration than bad feelings, and more pity towards the strayed unfortunate and ungrateful, than rage and indignation. To explain this paragraph, we have to say that though the author of the two letters, which we read in the Hongkong papers, might be ashamed of himself, they appear to have been written, inspired and formulated in this country.

But the paper which accepts and protects and stains its columns with the malicious discharge of falsehood, with the impudent and shameful distillations of those who perhaps offered, as payment for the most generous and cordial hospitality, the most perfidious ingratitude, is not free from blame before the conscience of right and impartial men, before the high tribunal of illustrious and conscientious public opinion.

We protest, and will protest, and no doubt our worthy local colleagues will protest, as also universal delicacy and moderation will protest against the offensive expressions and thoughts which follow the task in which the papers of Hongkong have been engaged since the Gunga affair. We think it is disgraceful to journalistic dignity and the high mission which it represents to adopt and publish false news and injurious opinions regarding matters not even yet spoken of by the administration, and we consider no one has a right to do so, much less the press, to advance opinions regarding an affair submitted to the enquiry of impartial and dispassionate authorities. The very prudent reserve on the part of the Manila press concerning the subject in question ought to have inspired the Hongkong press with an idea of its dignity, and they might have learnt with advantage, as pointing the way to their high position, but unfortunately they have changed it for that of justice and looseness of passions. The press of all countries possesses more elevated and decorous principles than those which the press of the neighbouring Colony possesses: above all interests are those of justice and truth, which are equal in all parts of the world, and on which ought to have been fixed the eyes and tendencies of all those charged with the duty of directing and enlightening public opinion; but once that principle is disregarded, and when the bond of national relations is inconsiderately mixed, or is likely to be mixed—with what view we know not,—with secondary mercenary interests—Pretending to excite rage with crowding it is like voluntarily separating themselves from the journalistic career to assume the position of a clamorous of factitious injustice, and voluntarily abandoning the circle in which he once falsely occupied a post; and to our view does not deserve the worthy consideration of comrades, but that of a mere aberration of insanity.—E. Comerio.

DIARY OF THE EASTERN QUESTION.

(Compiled from the London Daily Papers.)
Friday, May 17.—Nothing will be made known respecting the proceedings of Count Schouvaloff at St. Petersburg until his return to London on May 21. According to a Russian telegram from St. Petersburg the appearance of the discussion between Russia and England are more favourable. With regard to Armenia it is stated that, although Russia will not consent to the retrocession of Kara, the question of Rastoun is not yet positively decided. The Russians feel that the expense of properly fortifying the port would cost millions before it could be of great importance. It is mentioned that the Golds, which has lately adopted a warlike tone, is not allowed to be sold in the streets, while the Bourne Gazette and the New Times, which are now pacified in tone, have had the privilege restored to them. Count Schouvaloff's mission to St. Petersburg has resulted in failure; so learns the Daily Chronicle special correspondent at Berlin from a reliable source. General Ignatieff has pointed out that to yield to England is to sacrifice the results of the war, and to make it an empty and fruitless name. According to a telegram of yesterday's date from Bucharest, the Russian continue their movements towards the West against the Rumanian army, and all negotiations in Lesser Wallachia, and all negotiations concerning a new Russo-Rumanian Convention have been broken off. The situation is regarded as serious. The Porte is very firm with regard to the entry of ships into the Sea of Marmora, and being of opinion that the British force now within the Dardanelles is as strong as is called for in the present situation, it has been laid down that before any other ships can be admitted to the Sea of Marmora one of those now in those waters must be withdrawn. Any exchange is permitted, but no addition to Admiral Hornby's squadron at the Gulf of Imdid. The Government of the Sultan has arranged with a syndicate of local bankers for a loan of seven hundred thousand pounds, for the repayment of which, with interest, the customs duties are hypothecated. The Whitehall Review says:—"In anticipation of a war with England the shipowners of Finland are passing their vessels under the Swedish flag. The fishermen of Aland have sent all their spare vessels into Swedish harbours, and it is believed that immediately war breaks out most of the Finnish coasting craft will be sent for safety to the same place of refuge." From New York we have a report that a new iron steamer, which was to be launched at Philadelphia yesterday, has been sold to Russia. The vessel was built for the Pacific trade, is of about 2,500 tons burden and has accommodation for 400 persons.

Saturday, May 18.—In the House of Commons last night Sir M. H. Beach gave notice that, on the motion of Lord Hartington relating to the movement of Indian troops, he should propose, as an amendment, "that the House, being of opinion that the constitutional control of Parliament over the raising and employment of the military forces of the Crown was fully secured by the provisions of the law, and by the undoubted power of the House to grant or refuse Supplies, considered it to be unnecessary and inexpedient to affirm any resolution tending to weaken the hands of Her Majesty's Government in the present state of foreign affairs." The peaceful aspect in respect to the Eastern question is somewhat strengthened. A semi-official Russian organ has published an important article, in which it argues strongly against the mischief of a war between England and Russia, and, on the other hand, the advantage of mutual assistance on the part of these two Powers. From several sources the report comes that Russia has made up her mind to satisfy the demands of England. A Moscow paper which had been prominent in its outspokenness against this country has been subdued. A Russian telegram from St. Petersburg says that Count Schouvaloff has succeeded in convincing the Czar that Russia should concede the greater portion of the demands made by England, and the assembling of a Conference is therefore assured. The Daily News special correspondent at Constantinople telegraphs that General Todleben has sent a note to the Porte requesting the evacuation of the fortresses of Shumla, Tarna, and Batum, and the removal of the Turkish camp at Maslak, and permission to occupy Baykeldere. A Council of Ministers and generals, under the presidency of the Sultan, was at once held, to take these demands into consideration, and another was to take place yesterday afternoon. It was not thought that the Turks would yield. The Russian army is withdrawing inland from San Stefano, and there is a report that the Russian troops are occupying the neutral zone, and threatening part of the Turkish lines. Telegraphing yesterday evening, the Daily Telegraph Paris correspondent states that matters are hourly assuming a graver aspect, and that the Russian movements are causing fears that foreseeing war to be inevitable, the Russians may make a dash on the capital and seize upon the coveted position at Kavak before the British Fleet could reach the Bosphorus. Owing to the unsettled state of affairs, the review fixed by the Sultan to take place yesterday at Maslak has been indefinitely postponed. The British Consul at Crete is negotiating for the submission of the insurgents there in the same way as in Thessaly. Notwithstanding the alleged pacification of Thessaly, the refugees now in Greece are afraid to return home unless their personal safety be guaranteed by England.

Monday, May 20.—Count Schouvaloff left St. Petersburg on Saturday, and is returning to London, intending to stay a short time at Berlin on his way. The situation is likely to remain unchanged, and no definite news is expected until the Count's arrival in England. Yesterday's semi-official Agence Russe gives what it states to be an authoritative contradiction to the statements attributing to General Todleben the intention of entering or approaching Constantinople in order to exercise pressure upon the Porte. The movements in question, says the Agence, have been dictated by hygienic motives. In the appeal which the Czar renews has put forward for subscriptions towards the purchase of a Russian Corvée fleet, his Imperial Highness points out that Russia has an adversary and an enemy whom it is necessary to attack at sea. Russian sailors will not be able to find out their adversary's weak point if they have abundance of good and rapid ships. "Dozens of vessels," he adds, "under the command of competent captains, may be scattered all over the commercial routes of the enemy, and put a stop to his universal trade." He also points out that the ships will be available in time of peace as a Russian merchant navy. Intelligence was received at Athens, on Saturday, to the effect that hostilities had been renewed between the insurgents and the Turks in the neighbourhood of Cana. Over 80,000 refugees, from Thessaly and Macedonia, are stated to be now upon Greek territory, and in a destitute condition. Many of them have enlisted in the Greek army. The Madura and Rosopoda, with Indian troops on board, reached Suva on Saturday, and entered the Canal. The same evening the steamer Seas, towing the Brambletye, arrived at Suva and left for Port Said yesterday morning. At noon yesterday the Canara steamer arrived, and entered the Canal in the afternoon. The steamer St. Olyth, with a regiment of Ghoorkas on board and the whole staff of the expedition, was detained three days at Aden repairing her machinery. A telegram of yesterday's date says that the British Government has decided to send a new steamer State of California recently bought by Russia. The vessel is to have her sides plated with heavy iron, and is to be fitted to carry an armament. In a telegram from New York it is stated that Russian agents are secretly inspecting and purchasing steamers for privateering purposes.

Tuesday, May 21.—Count Schouvaloff arrived in Berlin yesterday morning, from St. Petersburg, and was received in audience by the Emperor William, after having had an interview with Herr von Bismarck, the Secretary of State. In the afternoon the Count left for Friedrichshagen to visit Prince Bismarck. Nothing has transpired respecting the result of Count Schouvaloff's visit to St. Petersburg, but the impression prevails that he is entrusted with Imperial concessions, rendering the Congress possible. At Earle the feeling of confidence in the success of the mission is regarded as declining, and it is rumoured that he is bearing to London some counter proposal. Prince Lebedev, the new Russian Ambassador at Constantinople, on Sunday, received the principal Russian residents, to whom he delivered a speech expressing hopes for the maintenance of peace, at the same time warning them against being too sanguine, the situation being still one of great tension. The Daily News special correspondent at San Stefano telegraphs that the movement among the Russian troops is simply a withdrawal to a more healthy locality inland. In reference to other movements the correspondent explains that General Todleben lately ordered the divisional commanders to throw out and maintain advance posts all along the line. This had not been done while the Grand Duke Nicholas was at San Stefano. It resulted in what appeared from the Turkish side to be an advance of the Russian army. In one village it brought the two outposts together, and the Turks fell back, leaving a narrow space between themselves and the Russians. The movement, and the demand of General Todleben for the evacuation of the fortresses, caused great excitement and alarm in Constantinople, but there was no evidence of any intention on the part of the Russians to attack the Turks. The Daily Chronicle Vienna correspondent telegraphs that Count Andrássy yesterday expressed to several distinguished diplomats his hopes of a European Congress had been renewed. The question of the place of meeting had been reached in the negotiations. The Rumanian army has been ordered by Prince Charles to make a forward movement eastwards. At present it occupies positions at Tergovista, Pitesti, Clujana and Crayova, with reserve divisions and heavy artillery at Kalafat.

Wednesday, May 22.—After his audience with the Emperor William on Monday, Count Schouvaloff paid a visit to Lord Odo Russell, the British Ambassador to Germany, and had with him a conference of an hour's duration. The Count is expected to reach England to-day. The Berlin correspondent of the Daily Telegraph has learned from high authority that Austria has positively signified to Russia that she will not tolerate the cessation of Antivari to Montenegro, and will, if necessary, take measures to prevent that stipulation of the treaty from being put into effect. Austro-Russian relations are consequently extremely strained, and military preparations in Transylvania are assuming a very serious character. The Standard says it is now more than probable that the Congress will meet in the first or second week in June. It also hears from the squadron at Maslak that an early removal of the ships from that anchorage is fully anticipated. Admiral Hornby has had an interview with Mr. Layard, and owing to the unsettled state of the public mind at Constantinople and the departure of many of the principal inhabitants to the islands the ships will probably move to Frinkipio. Reports of considerable activity in the Russian army reached Constantinople from Tostaldji on Sunday night. Troops are being continually sent to join the forces of General Todleben before the Turkish capital, and those in turn, are replaced by other regiments from Adrianople. A riot took place on Monday in Constantinople. Some thirty refugees made their way to the gardens of the ex-Sultan Murad, and cried, "Long live the Sultan!" The troops interfered with the rioters, blows were exchanged, and several fatalities happened on both sides. The disturbance was purely local. Five thousand refugees yesterday assembled at Constantinople and sent a deputation to the Porte asking relief, as all their provisions were exhausted and sickness was prevalent amongst them. The Porte promised to supply them regularly with rations. The Turkish Minister for Foreign Affairs has sent a despatch to the representatives of the Porte at the various capitals, stating that disturbance and loss of life in Constantinople were caused by some refugees getting into the garden of the palace inhabited by the ex-Sultan, but public tranquillity in the city has not been disturbed. The Daily Chronicle special correspondent at Bucharest telegraphs that the Rumanian army has commenced its forward movement, and that the left wing is in advance. Prince Charles is to visit his advance divisions on Thursday at Pitesti. The Russians are fortifying Toulch, and have at Sulina several ships laden with stones, ready to sink them, and so close the Sulina mouth of the Danube. Russian troops continue to pass through Rumanian en route for Bulgaria.

Thursday, May 23.—The debate in the House of Commons on the employment of the Indian Contingent, the adjournment of which was moved by Mr. Cross, will be resumed to-day. Count Schouvaloff returned to London last evening. The Standard is told by its special correspondent at St. Petersburg that the Czar was pleased to find that he had received exaggerated statements of the English demand, but was yet more gratified to learn that the British Government was sincerely anxious for peace. He seems to be firm principally on the question of the retrocession of Bessarabia; but on other points he will make large concessions. The Agence Russe thinks that the efforts of those who are trying to prevent an understanding between England and Russia will be in vain, and that a Congress will assemble. It warns the public against false reports, and adds that positive information about the results of Count Schouvaloff's mission to London can only reach the Russian capital in the course of next week. The independent Russian organs, such as the Golos, still maintain, however, that the peace should be concluded only on the basis of time. Peace, the Port correspondent of the Daily Telegraph reports, is considered at the Embassy to be rather more hopeful. The party of conciliation is believed to be gaining the upper hand in the councils of the Sultan, and the British attitude presented by England is greatly conducing to bring about this result. The Russian troops continue their advance towards the Forest of Belgrad, near Constantinople. General Scobeeff has stationed his troops quite close to the Sweet Waters. The Turkish generals have ordered their advanced line to retire. A Commission of the two Governments is to fix the exact line of demarcation. A telegram from Constantinople, received in Vienna, states that engagements have taken place near the sources of the Arda between the Russian troops and the Mohammedan insurgents, the latter being defeated with considerable loss. Relations between the Montenegrins and the Turks are becoming strained. The Prince of Montenegro accuses the Turks of preparing an attack in Albania, whilst the Ottoman body and the Ottoman Governor had argued the Prince of the purely pacific intentions of the Porte.

The telephone may be well enough as a municipal disseminator, but what the country needs is the invention of some sort of musical conductor which may be applied to hand organs and tin-pan pianos in such a way as to conduct the "musical" noisily off, and dump it into some out of the way place, where it will not become offensive.

THERE is more real comedy in the District Court of Common in one month than in all the Courts of India in twelve months. There is the latest reported case:—"A Gentle Judge delivered a judgment on a Judge, I heard," writes a correspondent to a Ceylon paper, "a good story yesterday. In the case known as 'the dog case,' Mr. Laurie, the case was, was a party. He was very anxious to prove that his dog was not for money, and began addressing the Judge as follows:—'Yar, yar, good lady, Mr. Laurie as Judge (interrupting): 'Mr. Laurie as the District Judge has no wife! Thomas Dorwick may have a wife, but the Court has no wife! Mr. Laurie was effectively shut up.'"
